About Leven Technology

Leven Technology was formed in 1996 by Simon and Julie Eager as a specialist engineering design company. Usually working in the high quality/lower volume markets the company specialises in the Automotive and Medical equipment sectors.

The range and variety of equipment and knowledge is extensive and allows virtually the whole process to be carried out under one roof. The machine shop has the benefit of continuous and substantial investment in the latest technology. It includes CNC 4 and 5 axis milling, CNC twin spindle 4 axis turning, sliding head turning, wire erosion, die sinking, surface grinding, together with conventional machines ideal for development. There is also sheet metal work, wire and bar bending, Mig and Tig welding. Finishing includes finishing, polishing, Vibro finishing, sand/bead blasting, engraving and laser marking. All of this is backed up with a full QA department and system to BSEN 13485, BSEN 46002, and ISO 9002/1994.

Being TVR owners and enthusiasts we have close ties with the TVR Car Club and TVR

Racing. Consequently some of our initial products were accessories for our own car. Following demand from other TVR owners work embarked on the design, and manufacture of an extensive range of bespoke accessories for the different models. We develop each new accessory in conjunction with selected owners and pride ourselves in product 'fit for purpose'. We undertake extensive testing prior to the accessory being made available. Our own demonstration Griffith 500, has covered over 68,000 miles allowing us to perform long term testing.

New Products

We are constantly developing new products for all models, details of these and any special offers will be found on the LATEST NEWS page of our website:
www.leventechnology.co.uk

Our aim is to design accessories that are manufactured to the highest standard possible. We will not compromise the design or materials to reduce cost, and while our accessories may cost slightly more than others this reflects our professionalism and customer service. We believe an important part of the overall package is presentation. We ensure that there are detailed fitting instructions for all abilities and if tools or adhesives are required these are included.

Having been recognised for our knowledge and ability to produce high quality components from a concept we have been invited into some of the UK specialist car manufacturers to work along side their own design teams. We are currently OE suppliers to The Morgan Motor Company (Aero 8), Aerial Motor Company (Atom), Nobel Automotive (M14), Marcos (TS250), and Ascari Cars (KZ-1), plus other manufacturers that prefer our involvement to be more discrete.
